1	Pvc tank 10,000 :Triple layered water tanks.The process starts with adding powdered resins in a hollow mold, shaped like a tank. Future, the mold is heated and rotated on multiple axes to all the material to take the shape of the mold. The mold is distributed equally because of which a thick layer of the material forms inside the tank. Then the mold is kept aside to cool down. Once the material solidifies, the tank is removed from the mold. Further the water tank is finished and inspected by the quality engineer and sent further for screening, packaging and shipping. With the help of roto molding process tanks with complex shapes can be produced and of larger sizes where the tanks are used for industrial use or in waste water management. The process is relatively easy and efficient which allows a smooth manufacturing of water tanks.	Sqm	1.00
